

My not so first document

Bharadwaj "Ben" Dogga

June 2011

1 Introduction

This is my not so first LaTeX Document.

2 Method

3 Results

3.1 Data

3.2 Graphs

3.2.1 limitations

We can virtually eliminate the virus any time we decide to. We can be back to a reasonably normal existence: schools, travel, job growth, safer nursing homes and other settings. And we could do it in a matter of weeks. If we want to.

Take New Zealand. With its fancy curve and life back to normal. Why can't we? Not fair, you say. It's an island nation. Okay. What about Germany? Not an island nation, large, growing diversity.

Don't like that comparison? What about countries that have been in big trouble? There's Italy, France, and Spain. Those countries had it reasonably bad the same time we did. In fact, pick virtually any country you want.

4 Conclusion